Comprehension:

Read the following passages and answer the questions that follow.

In today's global business environment, communication is often conducted in English, but cultural expectations can vary significantly. Misunderstanding cultural norms can lead to poor judgment and communication breakdowns. Three important areas where business etiquette differs across cultures include how people are addressed, the role of smiling, and expectations around eye contact.

When addressing someone, different cultures have distinct preferences. For instance, a German professional may expect to be called 'Doctor' if they hold a PhD, valuing the title as recognition of effort and achievement. In contrast, a British person might find this overly formal or even pretentious. Continental Europeans and Latin Americans often prefer formal titles and surnames, while Americans and some British professionals lean towards using first names.

The safest approach is to observe how others address you and ask if unsure.

Smiling also carries different meanings. In Russia, it can be seen as insincere, while in countries like the United States, Britain, and Australia, it signals friendliness and respect.

Research shows that smiling individuals are seen as more intelligent in some cultures such as Germany and China, but as less intelligent or even dishonest in places like Japan, Iran, and India.

Eye contact is another area of divergence. In Western countries, it reflects attentiveness and honesty. However, in cultures such as Japan and Korea, it may be viewed as disrespectful. In parts of South America, Africa, and the Middle East, prolonged or cross-gender eye contact can be inappropriate or confrontational.

Understanding these cultural nuances is important, but it is equally vital to avoid overgeneralising. Individuals are shaped by many factors beyond nationality, such as region, age, profession, and personal experience. Awareness without stereotyping is key to successful cross cultural communication.

SubQuestion No : 16

Q.16 What is the synonym of the word 'nuances' as used in the passage?

- 1. Expectations
 - 2. Origins
 - 3. Variations

Comprehension:

Read the following passages and answer the questions that follow.

In today's global business environment, communication is often conducted in English, but cultural expectations can vary significantly. Misunderstanding cultural norms can lead to poor judgment and communication breakdowns. Three important areas where business etiquette differs across cultures include how people are addressed, the role of smiling, and expectations around eye contact.

When addressing someone, different cultures have distinct preferences. For instance, a German professional may expect to be called 'Doctor' if they hold a PhD, valuing the title as recognition of effort and achievement. In contrast, a British person might find this overly formal or even pretentious. Continental Europeans and Latin Americans often prefer formal titles and surnames, while Americans and some British professionals lean towards using first names.

The safest approach is to observe how others address you and ask if unsure.

Smiling also carries different meanings. In Russia, it can be seen as insincere, while in countries like the United States, Britain, and Australia, it signals friendliness and respect.

Research shows that smiling individuals are seen as more intelligent in some cultures such as Germany and China, but as less intelligent or even dishonest in places like Japan, Iran, and India.

Eye contact is another area of divergence. In Western countries, it reflects attentiveness and honesty. However, in cultures such as Japan and Korea, it may be viewed as disrespectful. In parts of South America, Africa, and the Middle East, prolonged or cross-gender eye contact can be inappropriate or confrontational.

Understanding these cultural nuances is important, but it is equally vital to avoid overgeneralising. Individuals are shaped by many factors beyond nationality, such as region, age, profession, and personal experience. Awareness without stereotyping is key to successful cross cultural communication.

हर बड़ा साहित्यकार साहित्य और विशेषकर शब्द की गरिमा और मर्यादा पर लड़ने-मरने को तैयार रहता है। बच्चन जी के साथ भी कुछ ऐसा ही है। बच्चन जी ने जितना आदर अपने साहित्य का किया, उतना ही भारत तथा विदेशों के साहित्य का भी किया। इसलिए समय-समय पर अनुवाद संबंधी नीति बनाते हुए उन्होंने भाषा की गरिमा बनाए रखने पर बहुत बल दिया। उनका कहना था कि अंग्रेजी का अनुवाद बाजारू स्तर की हिंदी में माँगना हिंदी के साथ अन्याय करना है। जब-जब हिंदी अंग्रेजी के स्तर तक उठने की कोशिश करती है, तो उस पर तुरंत दोष लगाया जाता है कि वह कठिन और क्लिष्ट है तथा जब वह उससे घबराकर अति सरलता की ओर जाती है, तो उसे अपरिपक्व कह दिया जाता है। बच्चन जी ने अपने गद्य और पद्य दोनों में ही एक सुंदर, सुगठित और सरल हिंदी का प्रयोग करके यह सिद्ध कर दिया कि आवश्यकता के अनुसार संस्कृत की ओर झुकती हिंदी भी लोकप्रिय और लोकरंजक हो सकती है। हरिवंश राय बच्चन प्रखर बुद्धि के कवि थे। उनकी भाषा शुद्ध साहित्यिक खड़ी बोली है। इन्होंने संस्कृत की तत्सम शब्दावली का अधिकता से प्रयोग किया है। इसके साथ-साथ तद्भव शब्दावली, उर्दू, फ़ारसी, अंग्रेजी आदि भाषाओं के शब्दों का भी प्रयोग हुआ है। कवि ने प्रांजल शैली का प्रयोग किया है, जिसके कारण इनका साहित्य लोकप्रिय हुआ है। इन्होंने लोकगीतों और मुक्तक छंदों की रचना भी की है। अपनी गेयता, सरलता, सरसता और खुलेपन के कारण इनके गीत बहुत ही पसंद किए जाते हैं।
